LEGISLATIVE ALERT

Citizen-funded' campaign proposal garners public support at hearing

Howard County's proposed small donor matching program took center stage at the County Council's public hearing Tuesday night, as more than four dozen supporters attended in support for an opt-in program some said would amplify citizen voices in the face of big money in politics.

Wearing neon yellow stickers that read "Yes on CR-27," supporters of the program said matching funds would empower citizens, increase voter efficacy and participation in the public system and level the playing field for candidates.

Proposed by Council members Jon Weinstein and Jen Terrasa, the resolution would create a citizen-funded campaign system that matches small campaign donations using public funds. If passed by a Council vote on March 7, the measure would head to ballots in November and take effect for the 2022 election cycle. The details of the program would be hammered into legislation after the decision in November.

Students apply as sophomores and participate in the fall of their junior year.
